I'm an interior designer living on the Isle of Man originally from Sweden. Being from the Nordics I'm naturally engaged in Scandinavian design. My passion is to create and decorate any type of room with simplicity, in other words, making it a bit more Scandinavian. I offer a full-service and can help you overcome a wide range of challenges that you might face wanting to re-design your home or your commercial space: decorating a beautiful space with furniture, fabrics and accessories collaborating with architects and builders selection of architectural details and finishes
